YOUR SUPPORT MAKES A HUGE DIFFERENCE

As we reflect on the successful conclusion of the NO MORE Week 2024 Technology Conference, I am reminded of the profound impact that collaborative efforts can have in the fight against domestic and sexual violence. In 2024, we explored the complex role of technology through global dialogues that illuminated both its risks and potential for empowerment.

The conference brought together experts and innovators from across the globe, fostering a rich exchange of ideas on innovative solutions, education, and robust policies needed to combat gender-based violence. Our discussions emphasized the importance of cross-sector collaboration and the powerful impact of diversity in tech development.

As we look forward to the 2025 summit, the support of our sponsors becomes crucial. Your involvement not only amplifies our reach but also empowers us to bring together more voices and catalyze effective solutions. Sponsoring the NO MORE Week Technology Summit means investing in a safer digital landscape that protects and uplifts, highlighting your commitment to corporate social responsibility and the fight against violence.

WHAT IS NO MORE WEEK?

Each year, NO MORE Week brings together people from every corner of society and the world to say “NO MORE” to domestic and sexual violence. It’s a time to shine a spotlight on an epidemic that impacts 1 in 3 women and 1 in 6 men globally. But it’s more than just about increasing awareness; it’s about collective action. When individuals, organizations and communities get involved in the movement to stop and prevent abuse, we are louder, stronger and more impactful.

NO MORE Week 2025 will take place from March 2nd to March 8th, culminating with International Women’s Day. We invite you to join in this inspiring week for awareness, action and progress. Find out more at: nomore.org/no-more-week-2025

It underscored the importance of diversity, collaboration, and innovation in developing tech solutions to combat gender-based violence (GBV), offering strategic insights for various stakeholders on ethical AI development, regulatory enhancements, and survivor support services.
